Rights and Duties

Students

Given that students are the core focus of the university, and to boost students' sense of university belonging, the Vice Presidency for Planning, Development and Quality has formed an independent body that is concerned with raising students' awareness of their rights and responsibility. Its task is to follow up students' rights and handle students' complaints professionally and neutrally. The committees were established to meet the following aims:

- To affirm the principle of justice as an essential pillar in the university.
- To find a neutral body to handle students' complaints.

- To take care of students' complaints and work hard to uphold justice.
- To raise students' awareness of their rights in the university and how to obtain them through systematic ways within the university framework.

Students' complaints should be examined through student rights protection committees. Committees are divided into Main Committees and Subcommittees at each college (more details about these committees will be mentioned in the next section related to complaints and grievances).

For more detail about Student Rights and Responsibilities, click here

Complaints and Grievances

In confirmation of the care given by the Saudi Electronic University to its students, its belief in the importance of an appropriate environment in which transparency, justice, fairness and equality prevail among its members, in order to improve the quality of higher education, and promote education practice ethics, the Saudi Electronic University guarantees students rights and seeks to educate them of their rights and responsibilities given the fact that students are the primary focus of the educational system to instill students engagement with the university. To achieve this objective, the Saudi Electronic University hopes that all its members, including faculty and staff, fulfill their duties and obligations.

The university has set up student rights committees protection at two levels:

1\ Student Rights Protection Main Committee (at the university level)

It considers complaints against the university's administrative units, as well as students' objections against previous judgments of the subcommittee, in addition to complaints that are not decided by the subcommittee.

2\ Student Rights Protection Subcommittees (at college level)

The responsible entity for students complaints related to educational and administrative matters except for complaints related to the university's administrative units outside.

The importance of Students Rights Committees lies in the fact that they are an independent body that monitors students' rights, examines their administrative and academic feedback and complaints objectively, and settles complaints professionally and confidentially, with a specific timeframe that reflects positively on the university and its educational environment.
